

This is an example of using 'The Game to Teach the Game'. There tournament was part of a practice there was a lot of deliberate practice of skills and team play as well.

SAG Tournament Video Clips from Practice

We did the SAG tournament with three games last night at practice. There was a dispute about if the score was a tie or a win for one team so they did 'Rock-Paper-Scissors' to solve it and the team that claimed the win covered the rock with paper.

We kept track of the winners and the losing teams had to skate around a circle for every point they lost by. Two pts. for a win and one for a tie.
